A rare opportunity to see exquisite murals by architect, delineator, and artist Marion Mahony Griffin in honor of the Armstrong Elementary School 8th Graduating Class of 1931. Having lived in Australia from 1914, Mahony created the paintings in 1931-32 in the Rogers Park school while on an extended visit to her Evanston family home just blocks away. Incorporating themes of imagination, creativity, and love of nature, Marion delighted students by standing upon a table to paint while asking and answering questions about her work, fairies, and other magical beings who assist the natural world.
